

---

classification

Posted by Andry91:TdG: - 2007/12/25 02:53

---

Hi, why pokerTH didn't have a ranking utility?? It could be fun!! the player who wins take some points for the increasing of his ranking!!

Andrea (italia - 16teen)

=====

Re:classification

Posted by WindowsXP - 2007/12/25 19:13

---

1. Because not everyone want to be given a rank. I hope that nobody has a rank.
  - 2.This program is not designed to record anything beyond the game money per round.
- =====

Re:classification

Posted by Tresette - 2007/12/26 05:55

---

I'm interested to know if I'm playing with a first time player or an expert user.
I would like to know how many games were won or lost. Simply that. A classification or a ranking system is pointless.

Thank you

=====

Re:classification

Posted by Andry91:TdG: - 2007/12/29 08:05

---

Yes, i would like to know i I play with a good player (with an high ranking). I think it could be a good idea!

=====

Re:classification

Posted by didli - 2008/05/14 17:02

---

Tresette wrote:

I'm interested to know if I'm playing with a first time player or an expert user.
I would like to know how many games were won or lost. Simply that. A classification or a ranking system is pointless.

Thank you

+1

I totally support this (good) idea :)

=====

Re:classification

Posted by Simeon - 2008/05/15 10:39

---

mee too.

=====

Re:classification

Posted by doitux - 2008/05/15 14:30

---

---

I just added this feature to "todo/roadmap" for PokerTH 0.7 --> "ranking qualification for open games"

=====

Re:classification

Posted by mase - 2008/07/05 03:11

---

Yes, a ranking list would be nice.
Points or virtual money. Or tables played and won.
I don't want to play with real cash, but some recording would make people play a little bit different.

=====