
Non-player character fold to much

In my opinion the non-player characters fold to much, when:

- you do a pot size bet
- you raise 4 big blinds pre flop (standard raise, IMHO)

It may be better than having the AI call those kind of bets with mediocre cards. In pro games, players want at the very least a pocket pair or J-Q suited before calling any kind of bet, except when they are very much bluffing of course,

There is a new AI engine planned for 0.7 so I think/hope there will be AI improvements coming...
